

November 10, 2004, Oshawa, Ontario, Judge and I

It is noteworthy to mention how this Judge emphasized the presence of multiculturalism in Canada, before we took an Oath of Citizenship. He talked about his childhood and the neighborhood he grew up in and how they all got along despite various ethnic and cultural backgrounds. He emphasized the importance of valuing diversity. At the time, his words did not make much sense to me because I virtually lived and functioned in a multicultural environment (Trent University) at the time and valuing diversity was my norm of life. After what was done to me by the OPP, I see what he meant.
